

Liposana

Restore Whats Yours

At our practice, we're dedicated to helping you move comfortably again with the most advanced therapies available. Liposana is a groundbreaking tissue product made from donated human adipose (fat) tissue, offering a natural solution to support your foot's health and get you back to the activities you love.

What is Liposana

Liposana is a natural tissue product derived from human fat tissue, donated by healthy individuals through a strictly regulated process. Fat tissue naturally supports the structure of your feet, helping absorb pressure from every step. Liposana is minimally processed to preserve these natural qualities, providing a supportive framework to help repair or rebuild damaged tissue in your foot, so you can move with greater comfort.

The Liposana Advantage

Imagine walking through your day with less discomfort, whether it's a trip to the store or a walk in the park. Liposana leverages the natural benefits of fat tissue to support your foot's health by:

- Providing the structural support of fat to reinforce areas weakened by wear and tear
- Including proteins and growth factors that work with your body to promote tissue repair.

With Liposana's fat-based support, you may find it easier to stay active and enjoy your daily routine, giving you the confidence to keep moving forward.

Safety and Quality you can Trust

Your well-being is our top priority. Liposana is processed in an FDA-registered and American Association of Tissue Banks (AATB)-certified facility, adhering to the highest safety and quality standards. Each donation is rigorously screened, including:

- Detailed medical history reviews
- Comprehensive communicable disease testing
- Strict microbiological evaluations

Liposana is cryopreserved using an advanced technique that maintains its natural properties without the use of synthetic agents, ensuring a safe and reliable product for your care.

Why Choose Our Practice?

We pride ourselves on offering cutting-edge solutions like Liposana to address foot discomfort at its source. Our skilled team is here to guide you through every step, helping you determine if Liposana is the right option to support your foot health.

Take the First Step Toward Relief

Don't let foot pain hold you back. Contact us today to learn more about Liposana and how our innovative therapies can help you restore your foot health. Schedule a consultation and start your journey to a more comfortable, active life!

321-593-1339
844-310-8054

YourBiologics.com info@YourBiologics.com